California earthquake insurance you can afford.

It's good to have options

The dwelling limit of your earthquake insurance policy will match the Coverage A dwelling limit on your homeowners or standard dwelling fire insurance policy. You can increase your earthquake limit if needed to cover additional needs such as the increased costs of repairs after an earthquake. Your earthquake policy can include:

- A DWELLING is the limit for the physical structure of your home and attached features. We will match your homeowners or standard dwelling fire Coverage A Dwelling amount starting at $100,000, and you can increase up to $3,500,000.

- B OTHER STRUCTURES is the limit for external structures not attached to your home, like a detached garage or fence.

---

- C PERSONAL PROPERTY is the limit for personal items located at the residence premises.

---

- D LOSS OF USE is for additional living expenses that pay for housing and living expenses if your home is uninhabitable. It also pays fair rental value if your home that is rented to others becomes uninhabitable.

---

- E LOSS ASSESSMENT provides coverage for your portion of assessments levied by a property owners association. Includes $10,000, or you can increase to $50,000.

---

- F LIMITED BUILDING CODE UPGRADE is the limit for extra expenses necessary to bring your home up to the current local building code standards. Includes up to $10,000.
